

INDEX

- Active actor involvement, 88–89
- AMO-model, 74
- “Best fit” model, 7, 86, 95
- Bibliometric analysis, 16–17, 18–28
 - affiliations, 24, 25–26
 - authorship, 24, 25–26
 - journals and quality of journals, 20, 23–25
 - national collaboration, 24–25
 - number of publications, 18–20
 - research design, 27–28
- “Bi-culturalists” people, 56
- Boston Consulting Group (BCG), 2
- British National Health System (NHS), 49
- Content analysis, 16–17, 29–40, 42–62
 - level of analysis, 28
 - main topics studied, 42–56
 - research context, 30–35
 - research population, 29–30
 - theoretical foundations, 35–38
- Contextually based HR approach, 96, 99–100, 103–104
- Continuous improvement, 91–92
- Corporate social responsibility (CSR), 16, 55
- Dynamics in TM, 95
 - challenges and dilemmas in TM, 103–106
 - dealing with dynamics, 107–110
 - internal and external context causing dynamics, 99–103
 - splitting up TM process, 96–99
 - from static to dynamic view on TM, 94
- Economic organizational goals, 77
- Empirical TM research, 18–26, 41, 123
- Employee wellbeing, 99

- Employment practices, 75, 86
- Enablers, 81
 - active actor involvement, 88–89
 - clear and value-driven TM strategy, 82–86
 - environmental fit, 89–90
 - organizational embeddedness, 86–88
 - preparation for TM implementation process, 90–91
- European Foundation for Quality Management excellence model (EFQM excellence model), 71–72, 73, 81–82, 91, 120
- Excellence, 66–67
 - key principles at the organizational level, 76
 - operational excellence, 71–73
 - quest for excellence, 1–3
- Exclusive approach, 83, 84
- External communication stars, 54
- External context causing dynamics, 99–103
- Global talent management (GTM), 11, 55–56, 57, 60, 122
 - approaches and main definitions of, 58–59
 - MNCs, 55, 56
 - see also* Macro Talent management (TM); Talent management (TM)
- High-Performance Work Systems (HWPS), 73–74, 75
- High-performing organizations (HPOs), 67–71, 72
- HR and fit
 - cultural fit, 108
 - employee perceptions and reactions, 90–91
 - environmental fit, 89–90
 - first-order fit, 108
 - fit with leadership style, 87
 - organizational fit, 107
 - second-order fit, 108
 - strategic alignment, 87
 - strategic fit, 107, 108
 - third-order fit, 108
- HR attribution, 106
- HRM, 73
 - and fit, 96
 - HWPS, 73–74, 75
 - micro HRM, 124
 - and performance, 73
 - systematic effects, 74
 - theories about, 118
 - work practices, 74, 75
- HR process model, 90, 96
- Impact factor (IF), 18, 23
- Inclusive approach, 81, 84

- Institutional mechanisms, 100
- Instrumental and managerial approach, 6
- Integrated and dynamic TM model, 114–119
 - multi-level and broad orientation of model, 120–121
 - practice based evidence, 119
 - strengths and limitations, 119–121
- Integrated approach, 66
- Integrated TM model, 76–92
 - drivers for excellence through TM, 81–91
 - systematic learning and continuous improvement, 91–92
 - TM outcomes, 77–81
- Intended TM approach, 101, 102, 104
- Internal communication stars, 54
- Internal context causing dynamics, 99–103
- Internal fit, 107
- Learning and innovation, 73
- Macro TM, 56
- Market mechanisms, 100
- Microsoft Excel software, 16
- Multi-level research, 120
- Multinationals (MNCs), 7
 - US MNCs, 50
 - Western MNCs, 45
- Nonacademic affiliations, 26
- Nonempirical studies, 13
- One-dimensional approach, 5
- Operational excellence, 71
 - EFQM, 71–72, 73
 - TQM, 71, 72–73
- Organizational context, 95
 - culture, 108
 - embeddedness, 86–88
 - fit, 107
 - strategy, 67
- Organizational excellence HPOs, 67–71
 - HRM and performance, 73–75
 - from individual to, 66
- Perceived practices, 97
 - TM practice, 106
- Practice based evidence, 119
- Research context, 30
 - articles to region and country of data collection, 32–34
 - organizational configuration, 36
 - regional context, 31
 - region of data collection, 31
 - type of organization, 31

- Research design, 27
 - mixed-method approaches, 28
 - qualitative studies, 27
 - quantitative studies, 27
- Research population, 29
 - high performers, 30
 - high potentials, 30
- Shaping of TM, 48
 - balancing local and global approaches, 51–52
 - differences between countries and organizations, 49–50
 - differences between TM and HRM, 50–51
- Strategic alignment, 87
- Strength-based approach, 77, 81, 83
- Suggestions for future research, 121
 - recommendations for research designs, 121–123
 - recommendations on content of empirical TM research, 123–126
- Systematic learning, 91–92
- Systematic review, 13–18
 - coding scheme, 17
 - inclusion-exclusion criteria, 13–15
 - literature review stages, 14
- Talent
 - conceptualization, 52–54
 - definition, 61–62, 82
 - identification process, 44
 - managerial talent, 61
 - recruitment, 44
 - technical talent, 61
 - tensions in defining, 83
 - understanding, 52–54
- Talent management (TM), 2, 15, 16, 57–60
 - actual TM practices, 109
 - adequate TM implementation process, 90–91
 - advancements in academic field of, 3–5
 - balancing local and global approaches, 51–52
 - challenges and dilemmas in, 103–106
 - clear and value-driven TM strategy, 82–86
 - conceptualization, 48, 49–52, 57–58
 - definition, 57–62
 - differences between TM and HRM, 50–51
 - implementation, 90–91
 - lacunas in academic TM literature, 5–8
 - objectives, 84–85
 - process, 96–99
 - strategy, 82–86
 - see also* Empirical TM research

- Theoretical foundations, 35–38
 - careers management, 37
 - institutionalism, 37
 - knowledge management, 37
 - new institutionalism, 94–95
 - psychological contract, 37
 - resource-based view (RBV), 37, 94
 - social exchange theory, 37
- TM outcomes, 77
 - economic outcomes, 81
 - employee results, 78
 - multi-level multi-value approach, 81
 - noneconomic outcomes, 81
 - organizational results, 78
 - society results, 78
- TM practices, 42
 - in Africa, 48
 - attraction of talent, 42, 46
 - in Australia, 48
 - development of talent, 42, 44
 - in Europe, 43–45
 - identification of talent, 42
 - and instruments, 85–86
 - in Middle East, 47
 - in North America, 46–47
 - recruitment of talent, 42, 44
 - retention of talent, 42, 45, 46, 47–48
 - selection of talent, 42
 - in Southern and Eastern Asia, 45–46
- Total Quality Management (TQM), 68–70, 71, 72–73
- Value-driven TM strategy, 82–86, 117
- “War for Talent”, 1–2, 3, 8