Index

Access Summer School, 65–66
Accreditation, 109
Accreditation Commission, 110, 112–113
Americanisation in Turkey HE, 131–135
Anglo-Saxon-systems, 126–127, 152, 154
Anti-Bologna Blog, 140
Audit culture, 126–127

Bologna, 1–2
  model, 120
Bologna Follow-up Group (BFUG), 4, 172
Bologna Process (BP), 1–2, 12, 42, 56, 80, 108, 124–125, 150
  aligning Cameroon higher education to BP, 152–155 Cameroon higher education system, 150–152 connection between inclusion and neoliberalism in, 24–25 consequences of BP for students in Spain, 82–83 and emergence of social dimension, 42–44 graduate employability in universities in Cameroon from social justice perspective, 158–164 growth of EHEA and, 3–4
  and implementation in Spain, 81–87
  implementation of, 89 inclusion in BP, 169–171
  inclusion-related action lines in neoliberal BP, 19–21
  influence of, 5–6
  LLL in, 58
  meaning of inclusion, 23–24, 31
  measuring social dimension of, 44–45
  methodology, 21–22
  neoliberalism and inclusion as mutually constitutive powers, 13–19 research approach, 157–158
  social dimension, 169–170
  social justice in era of neoliberalism, 155–157
  in Spain, 86–87
  structure of EHEA and governing of, 4–5
  in Turkey, 130–131
Bottom-up approach, 138
Business of HE, 173

Cameroon
  higher education to BP, 152–155
  neoliberalising graduate employability discourses in Cameroon HE, 159–164
  from social justice perspective, 158–164
Commissioner for Fair Access (CFA), 51 Commodification, 156–157
  access to professional programmes, 163–164 training for employment, 162–163
Community education, 61–62
Competitiveness, 24
Council of HE (CoHE), 125
COVID-19 pandemic, 42, 67, 70
  flexible to students needs, 69
  major shift in educational provision, 68–69
  skills development, 70

Crises, 56
Culture wars, 124

Data sources and collection, 62–63
Diploma Supplement (DS), 130
Disability, 48
Disabled students, 48–50
Disadvantaged students, 42
Distance education, 93
Diversity, 13–14

Economic and Monetary Community of Central Africa (CEMAC), 150
Economic crises, 70, 80, 151
ECTS system, 137
Education, 20, 95–96, 133, 162
  inclusion, 13, 16, 110–111
  inclusion and neoliberalism interlinked in, 17–19
  neoliberalism in, 16–17
  policy, 18
  wars, 124
Educational inequality, 86
Educational process, 156
Emancipatory approach, 57
Employability, 140, 150
  approach, 159
Employment, commodifying training for, 162–163
Engagement, non-traditional students in Spain, 97–98
Enterprise Gym, 65–66
Europe, 86
European Association for International Education, 5
European Association for Quality Assurance in HE (ENQA), 112–113
European cultural convention, 3–4
European education policymakers, 120
European Educational Space, 135–136, 141
European Higher Education Area (EHEA), 1–2, 12, 26, 29, 31, 41–42, 56, 81, 124–125, 150
  BP and emergence of social dimension, 42–44 growth of EHEA and bologna process, 3–4 influence of bologna process, 5–6 measuring social dimension of BP, 44–45
  progress towards fairness in HE, 45–50 structure of EHEA and governing of bologna process, 4–5
European Research Council (ERC), 126
European Union (EU), 3–4, 41–42, 117, 124–125
Europeanisation in Turkey HE, 131–135
Euroscepticism, 132
Eurostudent surveys, 44–45
External dimension of BP, 150

French sub-systems, 152

Global crises, 61
Global recession (2008–2009), 64–67
Governing of bologna process, 4–5
Government policy and guidance with autonomy at university level, 63–64
Governmentality, HE as neoliberal form of, 126–127
Graduate employability, 150–151
  neoliberalising graduate employability discourses in Cameroon HE, 159–164
  in universities in Cameroon from social justice perspective, 158–164

Higher education (HE) (see also Education), 1–2, 12, 41–42, 56, 69, 108, 123–124, 150, 170 case study of progress and challenges in relation to equality in, 50–51

disabled students, 48–50
as neoliberal form of governmentality, 126–127
neoliberalising graduate employability discourses in Cameroon HE, 159–164
progress towards fairness in, 45–50
state of HE in Turkey, 129 structure of HE in Turkey, 127–128
students from socially disadvantaged backgrounds, 45–47 systems, 80–81
in Turkey, 131–135
Higher education institutions (HEIs), 56 higher education in, 82
lifelong learning in, 58–60
neoliberalist context of Scottish HEIs and implications for LLL, 60–61
Higher Education Quality Assurance Act (2018), 113–114
Human capital models, 72

Inclusion, 1, 6–7, 12, 108, 110–111, 119–120, 171–172
in BP, 23, 31, 169, 171
connection between inclusion and neoliberalism in BP, 24–25
in education, 13–16
evolving meaning of inclusion in tight relationship with neoliberalism, 25–31
inclusion-related action lines in neoliberal BP, 19–21
interlinked in education, 17–19
meaning of 'inclusion', 23–24
as mutually constitutive powers, 13–19
Inclusive Bologna, 113–116
Institute for Lifelong Learning (UIL), 57
Integration, 13–14
Internal Quality Assurance System for HE, 112 standards, 13, 16, 114
International Governmental Organisations, 58
International Standard Classification of Education (ISCED), 45–46
Internationalisation in Turkey HE, 131–135
Interuniversity council, 128

Justice and Development Party (JDP), 132

Küreselleşme process, 133–134

Lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans-gender/sexual, queer, intersex and asexual people (LGBTQIA), 15
Licence-Master-Doctorat (LMD), 150, 152–153
Lifelong learning (LLL), 56, 117, 170
analytical method, 63
in bologna process, 58
challenges evidenced during both stressors and afterwards, 70–72
COVID-19 pandemic, 67–70
data sources and collection, 62–63
defining and conceptualising, 57–58
definitions and discourses, 57–61 directed by government policy and guidance with autonomy at university level, 63–64 emphasis on skills development, 64–65
global recession, 64–67
methodology, 61–63
neoliberalist context of Scottish HEIs and implications for, 60–61 problems with funding, 70–71
sample set, 62
in Scotland and HEIs, 58–60
social justice model, 66–67

used for increasing employability chances, 65–66 wider distribution of learning needed, 71–72

Marginalised groups, 12
Mental health, 72
problems, 49–50
Ministry of Education, 110

National space, 124
Neoinstitutionalist approach, 18
Neoliberal BP, inclusion-related action lines in, 19–21
Neoliberal cholera, 19
Neoliberal inclusion, 117–119
Neoliberal mode of governance of graduate employability, 159–161
Neoliberalisation
commodifying access to professional programmes, 163–164
commodifying training for employment, 162–163
graduate employability discourses in Cameroon HE, 159–164 of higher education, 81
neoliberal mode of governance of graduate employability, 159–161
Neoliberalism, 2, 12, 60, 108–109, 118, 171–172
connection between inclusion and neoliberalism in BP, 24–25
in context of Russia's war in Ukraine, 172–173
in education, 16–17
evolving meaning of inclusion in tight relationship with, 25–31
in HE, 156–157
interlinked in education, 17–19
as mutually constitutive powers, 13–19
social justice in era of, 155–157
Non-traditional students
in Spain, 83–84
in terms of age and combining work and studies, 89–93
Non-voting consultative members of EHEA, 5

#Occupygezi movement, 141
Online media, 71
Open method of coordination, 4
Organisation of Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), 3, 126–127

Pandemic, 51
Participation, 13–14
Pedagogical innovations, 81
Pedagogical rationality, 119
Policy, 41–42
documents, 18–19
process, 18
sectors, 124
Politics, 129
Post-socialist Slovakia
inclusive bologna, 113–116
neoliberal inclusion, 117–119
performative bologna, 109–113
Prior learning, 20
Professional degree, 150
Professional programmes, commodifying access to, 163–164
Professionalization, 152–154

Quality Assurance Policy, 115

Recession, 64
Recognition, 13–14
Relative risk aversion theory, 86–87
Russia's war in Ukraine, social justice and neoliberalism in context of, 172–173

Scotland
HE in, 50–51
lifelong learning in, 58–60

skills for, 64–65
Scotland Act (1998), 59
Scottish Credit and Qualifications Framework (SCQFs), 59
Scottish HEIs and implications for LLL, wider neoliberalist context of, 60–61
Scottish Index of Multiple Deprivation (SIMD), 51
Self-selection, 98
Skills development, 70
emphasis on, 64–65
Skills for Scotland, 64–65
Slovak Accreditation Commission, 112–113
Slovak Higher Education Accreditation Agency, 108
Slovakia
BP in, 109–110
transformation in, 109
Social conduct, 126
Social dimension, 20–21, 23–24, 87, 117, 169–170
BP and emergence of, 42–44
measuring social dimension of BP, 44–45
in Spain, 86–87
Social justice, 2, 12–15, 27, 72, 87, 108, 119–120, 170–171
approach, 57
Cameroon from social justice perspective, 158–164
in era of neoliberalism, 155–157
model, 66–67
and neoliberalism in context of Russia's war in Ukraine, 172–173
Socially disadvantaged backgrounds, students from, 45–47
Socio-demographic data, 95–96
Soft power, 4
Spain
BP and implementation in, 81–87
consequences of BP for students in, 82–83 engagement, 97–98
implementation of bologna process, 89
non-traditional students in, 83–84 number of non-traditional students in terms of age and combining work and studies, 89–93 numbers by socioeconomic background, 93–96 objectives, hypotheses, data and methods, 87–89
socioeconomic background, BP and social dimension in, 86–87
students combining study and work, 84–86
Spanish university system, 89
Special education needs (SEN), 15
State Planning Organisation, 130
Student-centred learning (SCL) (see also Lifelong learning (LLL)), 20–21, 24, 81, 117–118
Students
combining study and work, 84–86
from socially disadvantaged backgrounds, 45–47
in Spain, 82–83
Supporting European QA Agencies in Meeting the ESG (SEQA-ESG), 114

Techno-bureaucratic notion, 124–125
Tertiary-level education, 45
Thematic analytical approach, 157–158
Turkey
BP in, 130–131
critical voices, 139–141
HE as neoliberal form of governmentality, 126–127
HE in, 131–135
impact and challenges, 135–139
state of HE in, 129
structure of HE in, 127–128
Turkish educational system, 125

Ukraine, social justice and neoliberalism in context of Russia's war in, 172–173
United Kingdom (UK), 56
United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (UNESCO), 57 Universities, 17

War, 172
Western models, 129
Working-class students, 85–86