

Part I

Racism

Part 1 of Racism and Anti-Racism Today investigates the nature, manifestation and determinants of racism in contemporary societies. It is divided into five chapters that engage with historical, theoretical and empirical research. This research defines, measures and debates racism and how it impacted historical and contemporary societies across the world. The chapters provide global perspectives on racism and its dynamics, with examples drawn from diverse countries and regions.