Index

Academia, 258
Academic advisory support, 80
Academic landscape, 122–123
Academic leaders, 200
  academic leadership development in HE, 201
  context and methodology, 203–204
  informal mentorship and positive role modeling, 206–208
  positive organizational perspectives on leadership development, 201–203
  positive perception of academic leadership role, 204–206
  research findings, 204
Academic pressure, 350
Academic resources, importance of, 43
Academy Space, 11, 269–272, 276
  imagining, 275–276
Ackee Grove College, 187–188, 191, 193
Active supervisor engagement, 99
Adaptive mentorship model (AM model), 50, 124
  AI as philosophy for, 123
  relationship, 127
Administrative faculty, 179
  role relationships between faculty colleagues and, 174–175 Administrators, 248
  open door policy, 248
Adolescents, 34
Adult education, 232
Adversity, 22
Advisor, 94
  in development of faculty, 139–140
Agency, belonging, and competencies framework (ABC framework), 8
Agile initiator, 301
Ako process, 275
Ambiguity, 174
American College Health Association, 332
American Psychological Association, The, 84
Aotearoa, tertiary education environment in, 274–275
Aotearoa NZ, pacific people in, 120–122
Appreciative heart concept, 127
Appreciative inquiry (AI), 120
  four phases of, 124
  grow phase, 132–133
  guide phase, 129–132
  as philosophy for AM, 123
  realization phase, 128–129
  recognition phase, 124–127
Appreciative listening behaviors, 132
Appreciative mentoring, 8
Appreciative mentorship, 120
Apprenticeship, 77
Attachment-aware schools, 37
Authentic leadership components of, 26–27
  exploration of, 25
  overview of authentic leadership theory, 25–26
  psychological capabilities for authentic leadership, 27
  significance of authentic leadership for transition to university, 27–28 theoretical framework for authentic leadership for transition to university, 28–29
  theory, 29
Authenticity, 25, 28
Autonomy, 194, 351
Autonomy-supportive supervisors, 94

Balanced processing, 26
Banana Avenue College, 187, 189, 192
Belonging in academia, 141–142
Board of Studies meetings, 67
Broaden-and-build theory of positive emotions, 178
Burnout, 171, 240

Calling, connection of, 43–44
Canada, 203
Canadian Bureau for International Education (CBIE), 317
Canadian Education, international students' perceptions of, 320–321
Canadian Health Promoting Campuses Network, The (CHPCN),
Canadian higher education context, 330
Canadian post-secondary institutions, 52
Canadian University, insights from study of select sub-Saharan African students in, 319–322
Capability for flourishing of educational leaders, 292–293
Capacity for flourishing of educational leaders, 292–293
Care, 153, 163, 306–307
Caribbean Centre for Educational Planning, The, 186
Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDCP), 4
Challenges, 240, 243
Chilly climate, 172–173
Chronic loneliness, 140
Clarity, standards, and rewards (CSR), 216
Cloning, 78
Co-constructing learning
  internal review of masters program, 65–70
  masters in educational leadership and management, 63–65
Collaboration, 69
Collaborative leadership, 336
Collaborative supervision for doctoral students, 83
Collective endeavor, 222
Collectivism, 272
College leaders, 192, 194
  to address wellbeing, 189–192
  middle leaders' perceptions of college leaders addressed wellbeing, 188–189
Collegiality, 69
Colonialism, 274
Comitato Unico di Garanzia (CUG), 260, 262
Communication, 99–100
Community, 62, 65
  conversations, 69
  sense of, 68
Compassion, support through, 161
Competencies in development of faculty, 143–146
Conference of Italian Association of all University Rectors (CRUI), 263–264 Confidence, 27
Content analysis, 243
Courageous Caring Conversations, 249
Course participants, 64
COVID-19 pandemic, 2, 7, 62, 68, 140, 146
Cultural intelligence, 307–308
Culture, 217

Data analysis, 156, 204
Data collection, 155–156
Degree, connection of, 43–44
Departmental leadership, framing, 216–218
Descriptors, 78
Dimensions of wellbeing, 348
  to higher education, 347–349
Discovery, dream, design and destiny process (4D process), 124
Distributed leadership, 230

Diversity as determinants of organizational wellbeing in Italian Universities, 259–260
Docta Sistas, 142–143
Doctoral apprenticeship, 78, 85
Doctoral faculty advisor–student relationships enabling positive outcomes and wellbeing in, 85
  institutional influences, 82–83
  interpersonal influences, 81–82
  personal influences, 81
  possible effects of, 84–85
  psychological dimension of, 83–84
  structural dimension of, 81
Doctoral programs, wellbeing and savoring in, 108–109
Doctoral student's roles and responsibilities, 79 psychological dimension of doctoral faculty advisor–student relationship, 83–84
  structural dimension of doctoral faculty advisor–student relationship, 81–83
Doctoral students, 112
Doctoral supervision and advisement
  apprenticeship, 77
  contemporary interpretations, principles, and practices, 78–79
  meanings associated with, 76–77
Doctorate students, 79
Duaa (first religious strategy), 157

Economic pressures, international students' arrival and, 319–320
Edmonton Charter, 332
Educational institutions role, 55–56
Educational landscape, 284
Educational leaders, 287, 291–292
  capability, capacity, and sustainability for flourishing of, 292–293
  perspectives on health and wellness, 287–288
  roles in promoting wellbeing in higher education, 289–294
  wellbeing, flourishing, and sustainability framework, 294–295
Educational leadership and management, masters in, 63–65
Effective communication, 305–306
Effective mentorship, 120
Effectiveness, pursuit of, 173
Ego-resilience, 107
eLearning tools, 62–63
Emerging adulthood, 20
Emotion, 217
Emotional intelligence (EI), 218, 307, 309–310
Emotional support, 191
Emotional wellbeing objective, 247
Empathy, 306–307
Empirical evidence on reciprocal wellbeing, 176
  perceived marginal value from relationship and marginal wellbeing issues, 177–178
Employee wellbeing, 257
Employer–employee relationship, 82
Enculturation, 79
Engagement, 99–100
Enthusiastic co-participator, 303
Environmental studies, 358
Environmental wellbeing, 247
Ethics Committee, 84
Eudaimonic wellbeing, 241
Evidence, 152, 154
Evidence-based faculty reciprocal wellbeing improvement strategy, 178–179
Evidence-based reciprocal wellbeing, 178
Extensive research, 228
External sources, 110

Faculty adviser/advisor, 77
Faculty advisor's roles and responsibilities, 79

Faculty agency, 139
Faculty and leader wellbeing in higher education, 2
Faculty colleagues, role relationships between administrative faculty and, 174–175
Faculty development, 137
Faculty fulfillment, 138
Faculty members, 75, 79–80, 226
Faculty motivation, 141
Faculty of Education, The, 63
Faculty wellbeing, 138, 144, 187, 240 (see also Reciprocal wellbeing; Workplace wellbeing)
  agency in development of faculty, 139–140
  belonging in development of faculty, 140–143
  chilly climate, 172–173
  competencies in development of faculty, 143–146
  factors impeded institution's efforts in catering to, 246 factors play role in, 172
  in higher education, 353–356
  incivility, 172
  mindfulness, 173
  organizational culture, 173
  pursuit of effectiveness and productivity, 173
  role clarity, ambiguity, and conflict, 174
  role relationships between administrative faculty and faculty colleagues, 174–175
  strategic planning goals and implementations for, 244–246
  and teaching/learning, connection between students' wellbeing and, 226–227 ways to improve, 246
  wellbeing constructs at higher education environment and, 171–172
Field training, 50
First-year experience, 36, 42
First-year higher education settings behavior, 42–43
  connection of degree and calling, 43–44 elements of influence, 35
  first-year experience, 36
  importance of academic resources, 43
  influence, 44
  insight from field, 40–42
  mentorship, 39–40
  student engagement, 38–39
  transformational learning, 36–38
  welcoming vs. mattering, 42
First-year programming, 42
Flourishing, 5, 202, 205, 286
  of academic leaders, 200
  of educational leaders, capability, capacity, and sustainability for, 292–293
  for leaders in higher education, 285–286
Four-dimensional model, 27

Gender Balance Sheet, 261, 264–265
Gender equality as determinants of organizational wellbeing in Italian Universities, 259–260
Gender Equality Plan (GEP), 261
Gender segregation, 259
Gender socialization, 172
GEP, 265
Globalization, 201
Governance of organizational wellbeing within UniBo, 262–263
Government and Medical Health Authorities, 66
Government health schemes, 187
Government of Jamaica, 186
Graduate counseling program, application of learning to, 56–58

Graduate programming, 92
Graduate programs, 56, 90
Graduate school
  comparison between high and low autonomy-supportive supervisors as reported by learners, 95
  overarching themes and categories emerging from qualitative analysis, 96
  qualitative data analysis, 93
  qualitative findings, 94–96
  quantitative data analysis, 93
  quantitative results, 93
  research methodology, 92
  results, 93
  supervisors and thriving student, 96
  supervisors as key factor in graduate student thriving, 96–100
  supervisory relationships and graduate student thriving, 90–92
Graduate students, 47, 53, 90–91, 93, 108
  current state of graduate student wellbeing, 51–52
  function, 80
  participants, 97–98
  supervisors as key factor in, 96–100
  thriving, 90–92
Graduate supervisors, 56, 90
Graduate thriving, 52
Grow phase of AI, 132–133
Guidance, 99–100
Guide phase of AI, 129–132

Health, educational leaders' perspectives on, 287–288
Health Promoting Campuses (HPCs), 331
Health Promoting Universities (HPU), 331, 338
Health promotion
  on campuses, 331–332
  key challenges to establishing robust health promotion program on campuses, 337–338
Health Promotion movement, The, 339
Healthy campuses movement, 334
Hedonic wellbeing, 241
"High-risk" groups, 170
Higher education, 2, 52, 225
  academic leadership development in, 201
  call for attention and moral imagination to foster wellbeing in, 359–360 capability, capacity, and sustainability for flourishing of educational leaders, 292–293
  complexities of leadership in, 229–230
  dimensions of wellbeing relevant to, 347–349
  educational leaders' perspectives on health and wellness, 287–288 educational leaders' wellbeing, flourishing, and sustainability framework, 294–295
  environment, 199
  faculty, 184
  faculty and leader wellbeing in, 353–356
  healthy behaviors, encouragement of work–life balance, feedback, and recognition, 290
  importance of work–life balance and wellbeing, 288–289 instructional leadership for wellbeing in, 228–229
  leaders, 163, 229, 231, 304–305, 309

lessons for higher education from PreK-12 sector, 227–228
limited implementation of instructional leadership in, 231
organizations, 306, 309
promote application of instructional leadership in, 231–233
research findings, 289
research methodology, 289
settings, 2–3, 7–8
student wellbeing in, 350–353
teamwork, collaboration, empowerment, and communication, 293–294 training and development and exemplary leaders, 291
training and development to support wellbeing, 284–285
wellbeing, flourishing, and thriving for leaders in, 285–286
wellbeing at teacher college level of higher education in Jamaica, 187
wellbeing foci in, 349–359
wellbeing in, 286–287
wellbeing in higher education, 286–287
wellbeing research in, 345–347
wellness initiatives, resources, access, and support, 291 Higher education environments, 308
wellbeing constructs at higher education environment and faculty wellbeing, 171–172
Higher education institutions (HEIs), 184, 194, 200, 240, 322, 324 Higher education leadership (see also Instructional leadership)
framing departmental leadership, 216–218
leadership, power, and wellbeing, 218–220
principles and practices, 220–221
wellbeing, 221–223
Higher Education Policy Unit (HEPI), 214
Higher educational environments, 300
Holism, 271–272
Honesty, 126
Hope, 27
Horizontal segregation, 259
Humbleness, support through, 161

Implementations for faculty wellbeing, strategic planning goals and, 244–246
Imposter syndrome, 171
Improvement of teaching and learning, 232
Incivility, 172
Inclusion as determinants of organizational wellbeing in Italian Universities, 259–260
Individual effects, 81
Informal mentorship, 206–208
Institution's efforts in catering to faculty wellbeing, factors impeded, 246
Institutional influences, 82–83
Institutional initiatives, 192
Institutional levels of wellbeing, 356–359
Institutional services, enabling international students' transitions and wellbeing using appropriate, 322–325
Institutions, 323
Instructional leaders, 227–229
Instructional leadership, 229–230, 232 (see also Higher education leadership) complexities of leadership in higher education, 229–230
concept, 227
connection between faculty and students' wellbeing and teaching/learning, 226–227

instructional leadership for wellbeing in higher education, 228–229
lessons for higher education from PreK-12 Sector, 227–228
limited implementation of instructional leadership in higher education, 231
promote application of instructional leadership in higher education, 231–233 Integrated approach, 266
Internal review of masters program, 65
new forms of teaching and learning, 68–70
plotting, 70
Internalized moral perspective, 26
International Consultants for Education and Fairs (ICEF), 316
International Health Promoting Universities and Campuses (IHPU&C), 332
International student transitions and wellbeing characteristics and needs of international students from different regions, 317–318
enabling international students' transitions and wellbeing, 322
international students' transitions and adjustments, 319–322
internationalization and international students in universities, 316
rethinking international students' institutional support, 323–325 International students, 315
characteristics and needs of international students from different regions, 317–318
institutional support, 323–325
recruitment, 318
transitions using appropriate institutional services, 322–325
in universities, 316–318
wellbeing and success, 319
International students' transitions and adjustments, 319
international students' arrival and economic pressures, 319–320
international students' perceptions of Canadian Education, 320–321 international students' transitions and adjustment difficulties, 321–322
Internationalization in universities, 316–318
Internships, 47–53
coordinator, 56–57
placements, 56
Interpersonal influences, 81–82
Interpretive phenomenological methodology, 8
Interview process, 143
Investments, 137
Italian Universities, diversity, gender equality, and inclusion as determinants of organizational wellbeing in, 259–260
Italian university system, 266

Jamaica, wellbeing at teacher college level of higher education in, 187
Jamaica Teaching Council, 186
Jamaican HEIs, 185
wellbeing in, 185–187
Job demands resources (JDR), 354
Job intensification, 219
Job satisfaction, 141, 172, 216

K-12 education, 229
Kindness, 222

Leaders, 151
in higher education, wellbeing, flourishing, and thriving for, 285–286
wellbeing, 152–153
wellbeing in higher education, 353–356
Leadership, 218–220, 222, 270–272
agile initiator, 301
competencies, 303
cultural intelligence, 308
effective communication, 305–306
emotional intelligence, 309–310
empathy, support, and care, 306–307
engaging inviter, 301–302
enthusiastic co-participator, 303
of HEIs, 184
leadership as hosting, 300
methodology and design, 300
models, 201
positive organizational perspectives on leadership development, 201–203
positive relationships, 304–305
safeguarding gate keeper, 302–303
social, cultural, and emotional intelligence, 307
social intelligence, 308–309
space creator, 302
synergistic connector, 303
vulnerability, 310–311
Leadership Route, 64
Leaf's theory, 37
Leaky pipeline, 260
Learning, 143, 278–279
application of learning to graduate counseling program, 56–58
connection between faculty and students' wellbeing and, 226–227
new forms of, 68–70
organization, 37
Legislative initiatives, 265
Listening, 160
Mann–Whitney U test, 176
Māori environments, 273
Māori leadership, 269, 273
accounts of, 271–273
in non-Māori environments, 274
Marginal wellbeing issues, perceived marginal value from relationship and, 177–178
Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission, 34
Marriage and family therapy (MFT), 52
"Master" teacher, 77
Masters program, internal review of, 65–70
Mattering, 42
Medical model, 23
Mental health, 48, 53, 263
Mentee, 128, 133
Mentoring, 125, 127–128, 132, 201, 206–207
relationships, 125, 207
transformative power of, 133–134
Mentor–mentee relationship, 123
Mentors, 79, 122, 126, 128, 133
Mentorship, 35, 39–40, 206–208
Middle leaders
advice to college leaders to address wellbeing, 189
case for attention to, 185
emotional support, 191
increased opportunities to socialize, 192
orientation and mentorship to new positions, 190–191
perceptions of college leaders addressed wellbeing, 188
professional development, 188
roles and functions, 189–190
staff welfare initiatives, 188–189
Mindfulness, 173
Momentum for wellbeing in higher education
call for attention and moral imagination to foster wellbeing in higher education, 359–360

dimensions of wellbeing relevant to higher education, 347–349
nine dimensions of wellbeing, 348
wellbeing foci in higher education, 349–359
wellbeing research in higher education, 345–347 Moral imaginations, 352
call for attention and moral imagination to foster wellbeing in higher education, 359–360
Motivational learning, 129
Multi-dimensional organization wellbeing, 346
Multidimensional model of psychological wellbeing, 24

National Center for Health, Behavioural Health and Safety, 193
National Draft Higher Education Policy, 194
National networks, 331
Navigational devices, 158
Negative life event, 22
Negative power dynamics, 100
Negative relationships, 84
Non-administrative faculty members, 177
Non-Māori environments, Māori leadership in, 274
Non-pandemic scenario, 70
Normality, 66
NVivo (data analysis software), 156, 289
NZ tertiary education system, 129

Objective wellbeing (OWB), 346–347, 350
Occupational wellbeing, 247, 263
Okanagan Charter, 11, 192, 338–339
considerations for effective implementation, 334–337
current state of graduate student wellbeing, 51–52
development of, 332–333
educational institutions role, 55–56
health promotion on campuses, 331–332
key challenges to establishing robust health promotion program on campuses, 337–338
as key framework, 48
key themes generated from interviews, 335 necessity of strong evaluation plan to gauge progress and determine next steps, 337
overview of applicable undergraduate research, 49–51
personal practices and resources, 52–53
social relationships, 53–54
study of Implementation of, 333–334
supervision and placement factors, 54–55
two stages of signatory campuses, 334
work–life balance, 53
Online platforms, 62
Optimistic individual, 27
Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), 316–317
Organizational culture, 173
Organizational identity, 219
Organizational programs and initiatives, 11
Organizational studies, 358
Organizational wellbeing, 255
concept of, 256–258
governance of organizational wellbeing within UniBo, 262–263
in Italian Universities, diversity, gender equality, and inclusion as determinants of, 259–260
in public universities, 258–259

Organizations, 215, 217
aspects of, 218
Ottawa Charter, 332
Ownership stake, 82

Pacific Ocean, 119
Pacific people in Aotearoa NZ, 120–122
Pacific power of appreciative mentoring relationships foundational pillars, 123
four phases of AI, 124–133
pacific people in Aotearoa NZ, 120–122
transformative power of mentoring, 133–134
viewing academic landscape, 122–123
Pacific students, 126
wellbeing, 130
Pacific wellbeing, 123
Pandemic, 66
Participant interviewee, 243
Participants, 161
Patterson Education Transformation Report (2021), 185
Peer support, 91
Perceived marginal value from relationship and marginal wellbeing issues, 177–178
Personal effects, 81
Personal practices, 52–53
Personal wellbeing, 215, 222 (see also Faculty wellbeing; Reciprocal wellbeing; Workplace wellbeing)
framing departmental leadership, 216–218
in HE, 223
leadership, power, and wellbeing, 218–220
principles and practices, 220–221
wellbeing, 221–223
Pessimism, 185
Phenomenological research design, 109–110
Pilot initiative, 276–278
Placement factors, 54–55
Policy context, 215
Positive action plan (PAP), 256, 263–264
Positive emotions, engagement, positive relationships, meaning and accomplishments model (PERMA model), 5, 24, 202
PERMA+ model, 24
PERMA+4 model, 24
Positive leadership approaches, 11
Positive mentor–mentee relationship, 54
Positive organizational perspectives on leadership development, 201–203
Positive Organizational Scholarship (POS), 202
Positive outcomes and wellbeing in doctoral faculty advisor–student relationships, enabling, 85
Positive perception of academic leadership role, 204–206
Positive psychology movement, 23
Positive relationships, 84, 304–305
Positive role modeling, 206–208
Positive social interactions, 54
Positive supervisor–student interpersonal relationships, 90
Positive wellbeing, 25
Positive workplace, 153–154
Post secondary education, 19
Post-secondary context, 39
Post-secondary education (PSE), 332
Post-secondary institutions, 53
Post-secondary internship student experience, 49
Post–secondary student leaders, 23
Power, 215, 218–220
Prayers, 157
Pre-pandemic studies, 170
PreK-12 Sector, lessons for higher education from, 227–228

Productivity, pursuit of, 173
Professional development, 188
Professional Development Route, 64
Psychological capabilities for authentic leadership, 27
Psychological capital (PsyCap), 27
  concept of, 28
Psychological strengths, 22
Public sector, 257
Public universities, organizational wellbeing in, 258–259
Publishing, 276

Qualitative data analysis, 93
Qualitative research
  on interning counseling, 50
  study, 116
Quantitative data analysis, 93
Qur'an, reading, 157

Realization phase of AI, 128–129
Reciprocal wellbeing (see also Faculty wellbeing; Workplace wellbeing)
  empirical evidence on reciprocal wellbeing, 176–178
  evidence-based faculty reciprocal wellbeing improvement strategy, 178–179
  factors play role in wellbeing of faculty, 172–175
  methodology, 175–176
  wellbeing constructs at higher education environment and faculty wellbeing, 171–172
Recognition phase of AI, 124–127
Rejection, 140
Relatedness, 141
Relational learning process, 124–125
Relational mentoring, 207
Relational transparency, 26
Relationships, 82, 120, 124–125, 128
  building, 127
  patterns, 124
  type of, 126
Religious deeds, 158
Resilience
  for authentic leadership, 27
  exploration of, 22
  importance of resilience for transitional periods, 23
  overview of resilience research, 22
  role of resilient leaders through transition to university, 22
  theoretical framework for resilience for transition to university, 28–29
  wellbeing and, 24–25
Resilient leaders, 22
Resilient students, 22
Resources, 52–53
Respondents, 205, 207, 307
Retention, 39
Return on investment (ROI), 173
Risk, 22
Role clarity, 174
Role conflict, 174

Safeguarding gate keeper, 302–303
Savoring, 106–108
  challenges students faced, 110–112
  data collection and analysis, 110
  limitations, 116
  literature review, 106
  and managing work–life balance, 115–116
  research findings, 110
  research methodology, 109
  strategies, 108
  students' program/demographics, 111
  and wellbeing, 112–115
  wellbeing and savoring in doctoral programs, 108–109
Savoring good times, 106
Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM), 172–173, 259
Self-awareness, 26, 159, 219
Self-care, 109
  support through, 155, 159–161
Self-compassion, 107, 109, 116
  strategies, 113

Self-reflection, 219
Semi-structured interviewing, 155, 243
Social connections, 163
  support through, 154–155, 158–159
Social intelligence, 307–309
Social relationships, 53–54
Socialisation of doctoral students, 78
Socialization process, 76
Solid work–life balance, 143
Space creator, 302
Spirituality, 162
  support through, 153, 156–158
Staff welfare initiatives, 188–189
Stakeholders, 307
Strategic planning, 242–243
Strategic Planning Committee, 248
Strategic planning goals and implementations for faculty wellbeing, 244–246
  strategic objectives and corresponding wellbeing dimensions, 245 Student wellbeing, 6, 57
  in higher education, 350–353
  and teaching/learning, connection between faculty wellbeing, 226–227
Students, 20, 57, 113–114
  engagement, 38–39, 42
  leadership, 20
  retention, 42
  service model, 324
Student–supervisor relationship, 54
Sub-Saharan African students in Canadian University, insights from study of select, 319–322
Subjective wellbeing (SWB), 5, 346–347
Supervision, 54–55
Supervisors, 50, 54, 90, 94, 96
  as key factor in graduate student thriving, 96–100
  and student–supervisor relationship, 96–97
  support, 97–99
Supervisory relationships and graduate student thriving, 90–92
Support, 306–307
Supportive supervisor–student interpersonal relationships, 90
Sustainability for flourishing of educational leaders, 292–293
Synergistic connector, 303
System levels of wellbeing, 356–359
Systems approach, 333–334, 336, 338

Teacher college level of higher education in Jamaica, wellbeing at, 187
Teaching
  connection between faculty and students' wellbeing and, 226–227
  new forms of, 68–70
"Teaching and learning" scenario, 67
Tenure process, 138
Tertiary education, 121
  environment in Aotearoa, 274–275
Tertiary institution's approach concept of wellbeing, 241–242
  factors impeded institution's efforts in catering to faculty wellbeing, 246 instruments for data collection, 243
  participant interviewee, 243
  procedure, 243–244
  recommendations to foster faculty wellbeing, 249–250
  research design and methodology, 243
  strategic planning, 242–243
  strategic planning goals and implementations for faculty wellbeing, 244–246
  ways to improve faculty wellbeing, 246
Thriving, 33, 92
  for leaders in higher education, 285–286
  student, 96

Transformation concept, 34
Transformational learning, 35–38, 42
Transformative learning, 40
Transformative power of mentoring, 133–134
Transitional periods
  importance of resilience for, 23
  wellbeing through, 25
Transitions, 29
  components of transitions for university students, 21–22
  resilient leaders through, 22
  theoretical framework for resilience, wellbeing, and authentic leadership for, 28–29
Translated data, 156
Tri-Agency Council for research, 330
Trust, 194

Undergraduate research, overview of applicable, 49–51
UniBo, 260–261, 263–266
  governance of organizational wellbeing within, 262–263
United Kingdom Healthy Universities Network, 330 Università di Bologna
  case of alma mater studiorum, 260–262
  components of transitions for university students, 21–22
  concept of organizational wellbeing, 256–258 diversity, gender equality, and inclusion as determinants of organizational wellbeing in Italian Universities, 48, 258–260
  gender balance sheet, 264–265
  GEP, 265
  governance of organizational wellbeing within UniBo, 262–263
  mentoring programs, 122
  organizational wellbeing in public universities, 258–259 PAP, 263–264
  role of resilient leaders through transition to, 22
  significance of authentic leadership for transition to, 27–28
University of Technology in Jamaica, The, 186
University of the West Indies (UWI), 186

Virtual education, 63
Volatile-uncertain-complex-ambiguous environment (VUCA environment), 2, 199
Vulnerability, 310–311

Welcoming, 42
Wellbeing, 2, 47, 62, 65, 69, 76, 106, 169–170, 184, 202, 218–223, 225, 257, 270–272, 276–277, 284, 329, 345–347
  using appropriate institutional services, 322–325
  areas of, 133
  concept, 316
  constructs at higher education environment and faculty wellbeing, 171–172
  data analysis, 156
  data collection, 155–156
  dimensions of wellbeing relevant to higher education, 347–349
  in doctoral programs, 108–109
  educational leaders' roles in promoting, 289–294 enabling positive outcomes and wellbeing in doctoral faculty advisor–student relationships, 85
  exploration of, 23
  facilitation extent, 177
  faculty and leader wellbeing in higher education, 353–356
  foci in higher education, 349
  framing concept of, 3–6

of graduate students, 90–91
in higher education, 286–287
importance of, 288–289
institutional and system levels of wellbeing, 356–359
instructional leadership for, 228–229
for leaders in higher education, 285–286
leaders' wellbeing, 152–153
literature review, 152
methodology and methods, 155
models, 23–24
overview, 6–12
of Pacific students, 120, 125
research findings, 156
research in higher education, 345–347
and resilience, 24–25
student wellbeing in higher education, 350–353
support through compassion and humbleness, 161
support through self-care, 155, 159–161
support through social connections, 154–155, 158–159
support through spirituality, 153, 156–158
theoretical framework for wellbeing for transition to university, 28–29
through transitional periods, 25
Wellbeing initiatives case for attention to middle leaders' wellbeing, 185
data collection and participants' particulars, 187–188
deliberations on findings, 192–194
further research, 195
middle leaders' advice to college leaders to address wellbeing, 189–192
middle leaders' perceptions of college leaders addressed wellbeing, 188–189
policy, 194
practice, 194
recommendations, 194
wellbeing at teacher college level of higher education in Jamaica, 187
wellbeing in Jamaican HEIs, 185–186 Wellness, 329
educational leaders' perspectives on, 287–288
in higher education settings, 11
notion of, 5
Whole systems approach, 331
Work engagement, 215
Work-integrated learning, 53
Work–life balance, 53, 58, 288–289
savoring and managing, 115–116
Workplace wellbeing, 173–174 (see also Faculty wellbeing; Reciprocal wellbeing)
relational aspects of, 176
World Health Organization (WHO), 241, 256, 330, 346

Zoom, 68