

Index

- A posteriori, 228, 230
A priori, 70, 228, 230
Acculturation, 4
Affinity towards Irish way of being, feelings of, 136–140
Altruism, 233
27th Amendment of the Constitution
 Act (2004), 52
Ancestral lineage, 112
Anthropocentric, 204
Anthropocentrism, 181
Assertions, 142
Assimilation, 60, 232–233
Assimilationist, 37
Authority in conversation, 190–196
Autonomous self-constitution, 62–64
Autonomous self-constitutionality,
 229
- Banal Nationalism*, 32
Banal nationalism, 35
Begrudgery, 93, 105–107, 113
Belfast focus group discussion, 107,
 116, 183, 185–186, 201
Belonging, sense of, 112
Biopolitics, 34–35
Biopower, 34, 49
Body politic, 23
Borders, 31
Bureaucracy, 33
- Capitalism, 26, 186
Categorization, ethical imperative of, 5–10
Celtic historical epoch, 220
Celtic revivalism, 38
Citizenship
 acquisition, 54
 criteria, 52
Civic nationalism, 165
Civic patriotism, 46, 163
Civic-republican, 60
Civic-state, 49
Civil disobedience, 63
Clan, 105–107
 genealogical lineage and, 103–105
Classificatory distinction, 129, 131
Clondalkin focus group discussion,
 96, 134, 144, 149, 173,
 178, 194
Colonial rule, 232
Colonial subordination/‘otherness’,
 relic of, 56–61
Colonialism, 12, 58, 61
Colonization of self, 61–62, 64
Community, 27, 47, 110, 113, 214 unifies or community of distinction, 107–114
Community of value, 20, 173
Consanguineous relation, 104
Conservatism, 169, 182–184, 204, 210,
 215, 224–225
Conservative positions, 183
Constitutional vote, 53
Constructivist approach, 71
Constructivist grounded theory, 71 approach, 71
 framework, 73
 iterative approach to, 70–71
Consumerism, 205
Contemporary identities, 18
Contemporary Irishness, 37
Contemporary theory, 19
Continental nativism, 235
Conversation analysis, 72
Coolock focus group discussion, 105,
 123, 130, 151, 163, 175, 180
Cosmopolitan justice, 184
Cosmopolitan law, 46
Cosmopolitan nationalist, 48

- Cosmopolitan patriotism, 47, 219–220
 Cosmopolitanism, 7, 20, 47, 49, 216
 as panacea, 44–50
 Cosmopolitans, 45–46
 Cultural appropriation, migration and management of, 196–199
 Cultural assimilation, 4
 Cultural awareness, learning history to gain, 125–128
 Cultural capital, 178
 Cultural exposure, 219
 Cultural hegemony, 74
 Cultural hybridity, 37
 Cultural hybridization, 219–220
 Cultural relativism, 47, 61
 Cultural transmission, 94–98
 Culture, 213
- Data analysis techniques, 76
 Data collection tools, 82
 De-institutionalization, 111
 Democratic process, 163
 Denationalization, 204
 Deracination, 8
 Design innovation, 75–77
 Developmentalism, 38
 Dilemmas of post-national nation
 state, 42–44
 Direct Provision system, 209
 Discourse analysis, 69, 72
 Discursive practices, 131, 137–138 seeking knowledge of, 64–65
 Distinction, community of, 107–114
 Dominant group, 71–73
 Dominant universality, 28
 Drogheda focus group discussion,
 159, 173
 Drumcondra focus group discussion,
 106, 108, 118, 130–131, 145,
 156, 193, 196, 201
 Dublin City Council, 88
- Economization, 204
 Egalitarianism, 11, 46, 67
 Egocentrism, 223
 Empathy, 233
 Empire, 58
- English, language of, 231–232
 Englishness, 37
 Essential Irishness, 38–42
 Essentialism, 14, 17, 43
 within social constructivism, 20–24
 Ethical imperative of knowledge, categorization and classification, 5–10
 Ethnic absolutism, 9
 Ethnic distinction, reification fallacy of, 147–152
 Ethnic nationalisms, 162
 Ethnicity, 133
 Ethno-national identifications, 30
 Ethno-nationalist protectionist
 approach, 41
 Ethno-racial heterogenization, 222
 Ethno-racialized identity
 ascription, 152–154
 Ethnocentric character, 217
 Ethnocentrism, 222
 Eurocentric neoliberalism, 60
 European dominance, 227
 European governance, 200–201
 European Migration Network, 53
 European Union (EU), 57, 59, 125,
 170, 186, 189
 Exclusion, 19, 131
 Existential reality, 31
- Façade democracy, 60, 201
 Family, 94–98, 102
 lineage, 120
 Fatalism, 4
 Feudalism, 105–107, 120
 Financial capitalism, 170
 Flawed democracy, 42
 Flexible citizenship, 43
 Floating signifier, 8
 Fluid modernity concept, 19
 Focus group discussions, 138, 154, 182 additional post-viewing questions, 91 and analysis, 78–86
 key emergent themes from main stage discussions, 83–85
 pre-and post-viewing questions, 90

- Free provisions, 223
 French nationality, 179
 Friendliness, 102
- Genealogical assumptions and notions of 'race', 142–143
 Genealogical lineage, 212 and clan, 103–105
 Genealogical links, 117
 Genealogy, 118, 120
 Generalized reciprocity, 180, 203, 224
 Global financial capitalism, 227
 Globalism, 7
 Globalization, 5, 41, 43, 59, 141, 155,
 165, 188, 199–207, 222
 Glocalization, 39, 41, 203
 Governance, 199–207
 Governmentality, 9, 11, 16, 23, 27, 33, 35, 42, 62–63
 of self, 61–62
 Grounded theory model, 71, 87
 Grudges, 105–107
- Habitus, 4
 Heterogeneity, 17
 Historical amnesia, 217
 Historical irishness and Irish contradictions within 'nativist' claims to irishness, 121–123 historical orientations of irishness, 116–118
 learning history to gain cultural awareness, 125–128
 post-colonial yet Juvenile nation
 state, 123–125
 referencing history in relation to
 societal change, 118–121
 Historicity, 127
 History, 218
 Hobbesian theory (on human nature), 238
 Home, 93, 96
 wider family as lineage to irishness and notions of, 98–103
 Homogeneity, 17, 36
 of Irish physiological traits, 164
 Homogeneous nation, 28, 36
- Homogenization, 126
 Hybrid identities, 18
 Hybridity, 23, 153
- Identification, 19
 Identity, 30–35
 formation, 72
 problematizing, 17–20 social construction of identities and knowledge-based society, 2–5
 Ideological naturalization, 55
 IMF, 125
 Immortality, 236
 Imperialism, 61
 Incorporation, 37
 Individual interviewees, 78
 Individualism, 229
 Insider, 129
 Insiderism, 9
 Institutional policy, 51
 Institutional racism, 59
 Institutional structural flaws, 223
 Institutionalization, 61
 Integration, 60, 232
 Interculturalism, 47, 62, 205, 220, 232
 Internationalism, 7
 Intolerant autonomous liberalism, 62
 Intra-European migration, 204
 Intrinsicism, 216
 Ireland, 27
 Irish, language of, 231–232
 Irish, recognising feelings of affinity towards Irish way of being, 136–140
 Jus Soli, Jus Sanguinis or temporal exposure to Irish culture, 134–136
 perceiving oneself as Irish, 132–134
 segregation of 'Irish' and being
 Irish Citizen, 130–132
 Irish citizen, 129, 131, 138
 segregation of 'Irish' and being,
 130–132
Irish Citizenship of Children of Non-national Parents, 52
 Irish Citizenship Referendum (2004),
 11, 51–55, 61–62, 134, 170

- Irish clan, 104
- Irish community, 110, 113, 214
- Irish conservatism, 184
- Irish Constitution, 53
- Irish context, 23
- Irish cultural norms, 219
- Irish culture, 136
- Irish descent, 178
- Irish governance, 200
- Irish Granny rule, 56
- Irish historicity, 127
- Irish history, 115, 120, 127
- Irish maternity system, 55
- Irish physiological traits, 164
- Irish social fabric, 222
- Irish society, 25, 75, 209
- Irish stereotype, 152
- Irish through conformity and participation, 143–145
- Irish welfare state
 - authority and perceived rational pragmatism in conversation, 190–196
 - conservatism and irishness, 182–184
 - governance, regionalism and globalization, 199–207
 - migration and management of cultural appropriation, 196–199
 - model, 176
 - Nation state perpetuating migration controls and nationalism, 185–189
- ‘Irish’ identity, 2, 10–13, 21, 40, 89, 93, 160, 196, 239
- ‘Irish’ national Identity, historical construction of, 35–38
- Irishness*, 15, 17, 19, 24–29, 35, 49–50, 61, 64, 72, 88–89, 102, 112, 113, 115, 120, 145–146, 149–150, 162, 165, 169, 182–184, 204, 209–210, 214, 224, 234, 237
- contradictions within ‘nativist’ claims to, 121–123
- criteria of, 36
- ethical imperative of knowledge, categorization and classification, 5–10
- historical orientations of, 116–118
- Irish’ identity, 10–13
- misconceptions of, 10
- mythological representations of, 55–56
- overview, 13–16
- as perceived in era of liquid modernity, 210–227
- racialization of, 36
- re/imagining, 160–167
- regionalization, 1–2
- social construction of identities and knowledge-based society, 2–5
- wider family as lineage to, 98–103
- Iterative analytic process, 71
- Iterative approach to constructivist grounded theory, 70–71
- Jus sanguinis*, 12
 - association, 139
 - citizenship, 56
 - criteria, 54
 - jus sanguinis/jus soli*-based citizenship legislation, 55
 - legislation, 52–55
 - or temporal exposure to Irish culture, 134–136
- Jus soli*
 - criteria, 54
 - or temporal exposure to Irish culture, 134–136
- Juvenile Nation State, 123–125
- Kinship paternalism, 105
- Knowledge, ethical imperative of, 5–10
- Knowledge construction, 6
- Knowledge society, 3, 5–6, 61
- Knowledge-based society, social construction of, 2–5

- Language, 69, 72
 of Irish and English, 231–232
- Legal-technical mechanisms, 61
- Leixlip focus group discussion, 154
- Liberal democracy, 43, 60
- Liberal individualism, 63
- Liberal multiculturalism, 42, 51, 62
- Liberal nationalist, 48
- Liberalism, 62
- Limerick focus group discussion, 111, 123, 188, 190, 200
- Linguistic capital, 101
- Linguistic production relations, 69
- Liquid modernity, 2, 11, 40, 119, 209, 219, 228, 237
irishness as perceived in era of, 210–227
- Localism, 7
- Lockean humanist perspective, 59
- Manifest authority, 6
- Manipulative elites, 21
- Marginalization, 23
- Methodological approach, 12, 14, 67, 71
- Methodological justification, 71–73
- Methodological nationalism, 181
- Methodological theory, 70
- Migration and management of cultural appropriation, 196–199 migration-related diversity, 18
- Minoritization, 110
- Modern ‘Irish’ identity, 37
- Modernity, 10, 29, 40
- Monarchical system, 52
- Moral conservatism, 184
- Morality of patriotism, 46
- Multiculturalism, 28, 220, 232–233
- Multimedia presentation, production of, 77–78
- Multipolarity, 58
- Multistage approach, 79
- Naas focus group discussion, 117, 126, 136, 147, 170
- Nation building, 38–42
- Nation State, 25–35
- Nation state perpetuating migration controls and nationalism, 185–189
- National identity, 22, 26
- National parallelism, 38, 100
- Nationalism, 7, 9, 22, 24, 27, 32, 38, 45, 220 nation state perpetuating migration controls and, 185–189
- Nationality, 26
- Native, 116, 120
- Nativism, 38
- Naturalization, 55
- Neo-colonial capitalism, 59
- Neo-colonialism, 56, 59
- Neo-colonialism/neo-imperialism, 61
- Neo-liberal governmentality, 24, 32–33, 182, 193, 224
- Neo-liberalist governmentality, 224
- Neoliberal governance, 62
- Neoliberalism, 9, 32–33, 39, 56–57, 62, 181, 190
- Neopragmatic perspective, 70
- Neopragmatic utilitarian approach, 70
- Nihilistic determinism, 4
- Non-governance, 226
- Notions of home, wider family as lineage to, 98–103
- Novel research model, 70
- Open access and closed entry, 233–237
- Opportunism, 188
- Ordo-liberal liquid modernity, 15
- Ordo-liberal perspective, 189
- Ordo-liberal society, 236
- Ordo-liberalism, 39, 56, 236
- Otherness, 133, 138
 relic of, 56–61
- Ownership, 46, 181

- Parochialism, 93, 105, 111, 213–214
- Participants, 86, 221
- Clan, feudalism and
 - Grudges, 105–107
 - community unifies or community of distinction, 107–114
 - genealogical lineage and
 - Clan, 103–105
 - immediate family, cultural transmission and sacrifice, 94–98
 - wider family as lineage to irishness and notions of home, 98–103
- Participatory development, 67
- Participatory process, 75
- Patriotic cosmopolitan, 186
- Patriotism, 45–46, 216
- Perceived Irishness, 237–239
- Perceived rational pragmatism, 15, 170, 202, 205–206, 209–210, 225–233, 239
- in conversation, 190–196
- Perceived rational pragmatist, 194
- Performativity, 24, 68, 138
- Personhood concept, 228
- Phenotypical Irishness, 221
- Physiological traits, 152
- Political conservatism, 204
- Political conservatism, 184
- Political racelessness, 9
- Politics of immigration, 20
- Polity-public, 7
- Positive collective action, 107
- Post-modernists, 22
- Post-national nation state, 49
- Post-nationalism, 7
- Post/late-modernist relativism, 70
- Postcolonial/post-colonialism, 23
- Posteriori knowledge, 228
- Postscript, 239–243
- Power, 29
- Pragmatism, 192
- “Pre-modern” societies, 4
- Pride, 126
- Primordialism, 20
- Print media, 26
- Progressive self-constitution, 62–64
- Protectionism, 164, 235
- Pseudo-objectivity, 47
- Pseudo-rational condition, 229
- Pseudonyms, 86
- Pseudotranscendental concepts, 230
- Qualitative approach, 15
- Qualitative participatory, 69
- ‘Race’, 8–9, 27, 39, 44, 61, 97, 112, 133, 136, 141, 146, 149, 154, 165–166, 188, 212–213, 217–218, 220–222, 233
- genealogical assumptions and notions of, 142–143
 - as imaginary and ‘race’ as reality, 145–147
 - Irish, 147, 216
 - social construction, 139, 210
- Racial distinction, 131, 134, 141
- reification fallacy of, 147–152
- Racial neoliberalism, 9
- Racialization, 14, 36
- of Irishness, 27
 - of state, 51
- Racialized and ethnicized globalization, 1
- Racio-ethnic, 8–9
- constructions, 8
 - injustices, 9
- Raciology, 8
- Racism, 27, 184, 204, 236, 238
- Rational justification, 238
- Reciprocity, 73–75, 173
- Reconciliation, 47
- Reflexive conscience, 52
- Reflexive self-constitutionality, 74
- Regionalism, 12, 170, 199–207
- Regionalization, 1–2, 12
- Regressive nationalism, 39, 41, 62
- Reification fallacy, 20, 30, 165, 221
- of ethnic and racial distinction, 147–152
- Republicanism, 46

- Research methodology, 88
 - building reciprocity between individual and collective, 73–75
 - design innovation, 75–77
 - ethical considerations, 86–87
 - iterative approach to constructivist grounded theory, 70–71
 - limitations and reflections, 88–89
 - main stage, 78–86
 - methodological justification, 71–73
 - preliminary stage, 77–78
- Revivalism, 31
- Sacrifice, 94–98
- Segregation, 110
 - of ‘Irish’ and being Irish Citizen, 130–132
- Self-constitutionality, 52
- Self-subscription, 102, 115, 133
- Singular collective community, 107
- Social change, 115, 222
- Social construction, 24
 - of identities and knowledge-based society, 2–5
- Social constructivism, 17, 23, 31, 63
 - essentialism within, 20–24
- Social constructivist approach, 21, 48
- Social Darwinian evolutionary narrative, 216
- Social Darwinism, 223
- Social evolutionism, 118, 216
- Social racism, 236
- Social transformation, 165
- Socialization, 4
- Societal change, 115
 - referencing history in relation to, 118–121
- Societal transformations, 154–160
- Socio-cultural capital, 204
- Sovereignty, 125
- Space-time, 7
- State administration, 58
- State of exception, 34
- Status quo, 4
 - of Irish society, 197
 - positions, 183
- Subhumanist falsities, 239
- Subject constitution, 27
- Subjectification, 18, 34, 51, 137–138
- Subjectification, 24
- Subjectivity, 6
- Substantive identity, 43
- Substantive knowledge, 6
- Subsumption pathway, 60, 148
- Supranational governance, 12, 60
- Sympathy, 233
- Technologies of self, 33
- ‘The other’, 115, 126, 230
- Thematic approach, 82
- Tolerant universalist
 - post-nationalism, 62
- Trans-Europeanization, 73
- Transcendental concepts, 230
- Transcendental idealism, 230
- Transnational capitalism, 185, 204
- Transnationalism, 202, 205, 227
- UNESCO, 3, 5
- Universalism, 28, 47
- Universalist post-nationalism, 62
- Utilitarian approach, 41
- Utilitarian liberalist, 38
- Welfare state model, 182, 204, 223
- Westernization, 4
- Younger participants, 233