ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The authors would like to thank their families and colleagues for comprehensive support.

Several people put much effort to make this book better.

The team of Emerald Publishing has done a great job of preparing the manuscript. They spent hours of their own time carefully reading through the material, finding typos, and making valuable substantive recommendations.

Each contributor spent many hours helping clarify the goals and concepts of the book, organize the material and generally make the text more intelligible and exciting.

Finally, we should also mention that this book was partially supported by the Research Association of Modern Education and Computer Science (RAMECS) and self-determined research funds of CCNU from the colleges' primary research and operation of MOE (CCNU19TS022).
